THE WORLD OF SOCIETY ETHICS OF THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC The Norwegian System of State Con-trol Discussed and Urged.

The School of Ethics ran up against a theme yesterday which infused life into what is ordinarily a very quiet gathering. It was "The Liquor Problem: Its Scientific Treatment," and the lecturer was Prof. E. R. L. Gould of Johns Hopkins. The scien-tific treatment proposed was the Norwegian

Attorney General and Mrs. Olney Are Going

Week or So-Dinner at the Italian Embassy.

The house is commodious and artistically decorated and furnished, and has a very large dining room and splendid entertaining facilities. The studio, which is a feature of the new addition put to the house a couple of years ago, was a great attraction to its coming occupants, as the widowed daughter of the Attorney General, Mrs. Minot, who makes her home now with her parents, has a decided talent for painting and will greatly enjoy the artistic surroundings to be found there.

The Italian ambassador gave a cabinet dinner last night to celebrate the birthday of King Humbert. Baroness Fava, who has been quite ill for the past week with a stubborn attack of grip, was not able to be down, but Mrs. Mendonca presided in her stead. The dinner was a very elegant one. Senator and Mrs. Brice and their daughters went to New York this morning and will be absent a week or two. They went to enjoy the latter part of the season of German opera.

Prof. Langley will give a reception to-Florida.

Mrs. Mamie Prosperi and Miss Maud Crump of Philadelphia, Pa., are visiting Mrs. Jas. W. Ginnaty for a few days.

Miss Bertha Breyfuss of Philadelphia will be at home Sunday at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. Baum, 922 E street northwest.

Guickly Tried.

Judge McComas and Assistant District Attorney Jeffords broke the record today in the matter of speedy trials of criminals. Two young colored men—Dennis Smith and William Wooden—were charged with second offense of petit larceny, in stealing wire from the Eckington and Soldiers Home Railway Company last December. They were tried separately, and all within half an hour they were convicted and sentenced. Judge McComas gave Smith two years and six months in the penitentiary and Wooden three years, the additional six months being givea him because he went on the stand and swore he knew nothing whatever of the wire.

Star of Hope Lodge.

Star of Hope Lodge, I. O. G. T., held their regular weekly meeting at their hall, 1900 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, last night. Miss Ellen Vockey favored the lodge with a piano solo, with such fine effect, that an encore was required, after which she gave a recitation, which was enthusiastically received. There was a tenor solo by John M. McAvoy, which received an encore. Remarks were made by Chief Templar Barker of Morning Star Lodge, and a story recital was given by Robert Johnson.

England and Venezuela.

England and Venezuela.

Sir Edward Grey, parliamentary secretary to the British foreign office, replying to William P. Byles, one of the Yorkshire members, who questioned the government on the subject of the trouble between Great Britain and Venezuela, said in the house of commons yeaterday that the government could not agree to submit to arbitration the question of Great Britain's right to territory long settled and governed as part of a British colony. The government, however, was willing to submit to arbitration the question which had arisen regarding certain territory beyond the Schombufgh line, and, he added, the government of Venezuela had received a notification to this effect.

Little Minnie Frankel, a four-year-old child, was playing with jackstones on the front stoop of her parents' house, at No. 200 7th avenue, New York, on Wednesday. 200 7th avenue, New York, on Wednesday. Minnie placed one of the iron "jacks" in her mouth and tried to swallow it. It lodged in her throat. Dr. Stimson of the New York Hospital was called in and exercised his skill, but the jackstone slipped down into the little girl's stomach. For a little while Minnie seemed to be better, but afterward the frightful agony which she suffered for six hours returned, and the child died early yesterday morning from exhaustion.
